Danny Liska Leaves On Europe-Africa Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Liska have recently returned from Brazil, bringing with them their battered remains of a 1958 BMW R60 motorcycle, that carried them thru every country on the North and South American Continent.

Danny is off again in search of new horizons and adventures- flying last week from New York to Hamburg, Germany - arriving there he equipped a new B M W for an adventure that will take Danny from point North North Cape, Norway southward through Europe and Africa to the southern most tip of Africa.

Of all the many different adventures on this hemisphere as the tundra, the jagged Andes, crossing the Atacams desert, and the mighty massive Amazon with all of its mystey, Danny says nothing he has seen over South America looks like this at Europe, its so different, so intensely farmed yet always so many forests.

Danny has started northward and already it has been raining quite a bit.
